My dear Richardson

Many thanks for your letter & Melander's MS. I have written to Lisa this morning suggesting that he should write a single paper combining the results of all 3 papers, and that he should offer it to the Phil. Mag.

I was very sorry indeed to hear of your bereavement. After a long and happy married life one becomes completely dependent on one's wife - at least, that is my experience, and I think it applies to most of my friends - and I can well understand that everything was shattered when the loss came. Believe me, with very deep sympathy,

Yours sincerely

E. T. Whittaker
